Jewelry Store Window Broken $371 Loss Listed

Rings, Lighters Stolen at Hites' Early Thursday

Burglars shattered the show window at Roland's Jewelry Store, 233 E. Court St., sometime during the night Wednesday, and made off with practically all the merchandise on display in the window — a total loss of $371.75 worth of rings and cigarette lighters, according to police.

Officers called an Ohio Bureau of Criminal Identification fingerprint expert to aid them in the investigation.

This is the third time in three years that the jewelry store has been victimized by burglars, according to Roland Hites, owner.

Police said Hites had almost complete insurance coverage on stolen merchandise.

Joyce Joseph, a waitress at Ray's Restaurant, a few doors down the street, discovered the broken window and burglary at approximately 6 a.m. Thursday, when she stopped to look at pictures in Roland's photo display window. She notified police immediately.

Police found nothing at the scene which might have indicated what was used to break the window.

A MINOR BURGLARY at the Coffman Stair Co., 325 Sycamore St., in which the burglars pried open a soft drink vendor and a wooden box where candy was kept was reported to police at 12:10 a.m. Thursday by the night watchman at the establishment. Small change had been taken.

The intruders, whom one city patrolman believed were juveniles, apparently entered the building sometime between the 11 p.m. and midnight rounds of the watchman. Entrance was gained through a window, and the burglars left through a door on the west side of the building.

An exact report on the amount of money taken is not yet known.

South Korean Fails in Try To Steal Plane

SEOUL, Korea (UPI)—Crewmen of a South Korean air force transport overpowered one of their mates who tried to hijack the plane at gunpoint to the Communist North today. The plane's radioman was shot and killed and the pilot and engineer were seriously wounded.

The copilot took over the controls of the C46 and landed it in South Korea at Pyongyang, 40 miles south of Seoul.

The would-be hijacker, who apparently was not hurt, was arrested.

It was the second such incident in two months. On Feb. 16 North Koreans forced the two American pilots of a South Korean civilian airliner to fly to North Korea. Later the Communists released the two Americans and 24 of the 32 others aboard but still holding the plane and its cargo.

Air force officials identified the man who tried to take over the plane today only as a Captain Choi. They said he was about 30 and a native of North Pyongan province, north of the Communist Korean capital. Part of his family lives in the North, they added.

There appeared to be some belief that Choi was not necessarily a Communist agent but just wanted to return to his birthplace. A special investigation board left for Pyongyang.

An air force announcement said Choi made his attempt 40 minutes after the plane, with seven South Koreans aboard, took off on a flight from Taegu to Seoul.

Payroll Aide Steals, Then Calls Mama

NEW YORK (UPI)—A young payroll clerk got itchy fingers, walked out of his office with envelopes containing $4,247, hopped a plane to Chicago, and then thought better of the whole thing.

He phoned back and asked:

"Should I do, mama?"

"Come back and give yourself up," his mother advised.

And that's what he did, said police of Richard Thielo, 21, of Astoria, Queens. He handed over all of the payroll except $30, was arrested for grand larceny.

Toledoan Is Accused

TOLEDO (UPI)—Ernest Smith, 41, was bound to the grand jury on a first degree murder charge today in the shooting of his 25-year-old brother, Everett, Monday after an evening of drinking and an argument.

Bombing in Havana

BYSTANDERS WATCH FLAMES shooting from a gas main that erupted after Cuban rebels went out on a bomb-and-fire rampage in downtown Havana. The Prado normally is the busiest street in Havana, but it was nearly deserted except for police.

15 'Official Volunteer' Firemen Authorized by City Council Action

Fifteen "official" volunteer firemen to act as assistants to permanent Fire Department personnel will be appointed by City Manager James F. Parkinson on the basis of action taken by City Council Wednesday night.

The volunteers, all of whom have served "unofficially" in that capacity in the past, will be drawn from a list of 20 names prepared by Fire Chief George Hall.

While some cities equip the cars of volunteer firemen with sirens and flasher lights, Council has no present plans to do that here.

UNDER THESE circumstances the fire chief was cautioned to instruct volunteers to obey all traffic regulations on their way to fires, since the volunteers are not covered in case of traffic accidents.

The fire chief told Council that anywhere from six to 20 volunteers now answer general alarms in from 2½ to 9 minutes after the Court-house siren is sounded.

While some cities equip the cars

as will be eligible to participate in a state-established Volunteer Firemen's Pension and Relief Fund to which the city has contributed by law, and will be outlined at city expense.

Heretofore the Fire Department has had access to a fluctuating number of "voluntary volunteers" on all calls other than known small blazes for which the general siren is not sounded.

Although these "voluntary volunteers" are paid the standard fee—$3.00 for day fires and $5.00 for night runs — they have not been eligible for other benefits nor have they been supplied with fire-fighting clothing.

George C. Braden, state registrar of motor vehicles, said 2,300 warning letters are mailed monthly to drivers accumulating six points.

But he said only 95 requests are sent each month to common pleas courts asking suspension of licenses for those accumulating 12 or more points.

"This certainly indicates that the point system is becoming an effective weapon in Ohio's fight to reduce reckless driving," Braden said.

THE FIRE CHIEF told Council that approved "full equipment," for a volunteer would cost up to $200 per man, but Council indicated that it will go slowly on the equipment angle until it has a better idea of the over-all cost of the volunteer program which will include training sessions.

The Ohio Inspection Bureau, which sets insurance classifications, has recommended that the city either employ two additional

Hates Housework But Wins State Title

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Winner of the Mrs. California title is a mother who hates housework. Patricia Griffin, 25, loves to cook, however, she conceded upon assuming the state title.

"My wife is so beautiful and so smart, it wouldn't matter if she couldn't cook at all," commented husband G. Edward Griffin.

COLUMBUS (UPI)—Warning letters to Ohio motorists accumulating six points, half the total for revocation of driver rights under a new Ohio law, are helping the campaign against reckless driving.

Flag Presented To FOP-FOPA

Highway Patrol Officers Speakers

The Fraternal Order of Police Lodge room now has a brand new American flag.

It was presented to the FOP and its associate organization, the FOPA, at Wednesday night's meeting by the Women's Auxiliary of the Paul H. Hughey post of the American Legion here.

The presentation was made by a committee of six members of the Auxiliary: Mrs. Harold Gorman, president; Mrs. Albert Hyer, chaplain; Mrs. Chalmel Kelly, historian; Mrs. Emerson Chapman, Americanism chairman; Mrs. Neil Paul and Mrs. Maryon Mark. Mrs. Chapman was the spokesman for the committee.

Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. Mark and Mrs. Paul are charter members of the Auxiliary here.

Rodney Jefferson, president of the FOPA, accepted the flag on behalf of both organizations, and then led the gathering in the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag.

JEFFERSON also presided at the meeting at which Lieut. A. B. Cook, commander of the Wilmington district of the Ohio Highway Patrol, and Sgt. John Gibbs, also from the Wilmington headquarters of the patrol, were the principal speakers.

Lieut. Cook gave a brief history of the Highway Patrol and explained some of the fundamentals of its operations and policies. He also described the part the auxiliary patrol plays in the overall program.

(There is an auxiliary patrol unit here, made up of Legis. members.)

Sgt. Gibbs, explained some of the plans for evacuation of Cincinnati under the Civil Defense program in case of emergency. He said such an evacuation would definitely affect Washington C. H. and Fayette County. He did not go into details, saying these will be made public by the Civil Defense in the near future. However, he left no doubt that the plan calls for moving many from the Cincinnati area here.

Three new members were inducted into the Fraternal Order of Police Associates by Jefferson. They were Ed Moser, Joseph Loudner.

Dem Candidates

The fiery mayor also singled out critics for each of the six other Democratic hopefuls:

"Mike DiSalle does not deserve to be governor of the state of Ohio because he sold labor down the river. His program is just so much fancy talk with no meat in it."

"MR. PORTER, an engineer — the governor of the state of Ohio must be able to analyze more than just engineering problems. It is the duty of the governor to appoint an Ohio highway director, and it is his responsibility to see that we have good engineers in every position covering the state."

"Mr. (Clyngan) Jackson — A member of the parole board does not qualify anyone to be governor of a state. (Jackson, a Youngstown newsman, is a member of the Ohio Pardon and Parole Commission).

"Mr. (Robert N.) Gorman, former Ohio Supreme Court judge-judicial experience qualifies one to be a good judge, and if he is good enough he could be a member of the Supreme Court. But this does not qualify one for the many facets of state government."

"Tony (Anthony J.) Celebreze, Cleveland mayor — Tony is a good administrator who has helped the minorities in accordance with the democratic way of life and who has had administrative experience in dealing with the problems of the largest city of Ohio."

"Regardless of this, I will place my four years of administrative ability and accomplishments up against his four years."

"Mrs. (Vivienne) Suarez (Columbus housewife and mother of five children)—nothing to say."

Celebreze, speaking before the Democratic Women's Council of Montgomery County, agreed with Sensenbrenner that the state needs more positive leadership.

In blasting O'Neill, he said the governor has taken credit for the highway program. But Celebreze said plans were prepared under the previous administration and federal funds became available because "a group of us went to Washington."

THE CLEVELAND mayor predicted that "under the present fiscal policy the administration will run short of money and end up with a $30 million deficit."

He charged O'Neill has been using carryover funds for budgeting when traditionally they are used for capital improvements.

Also on the topic of money, Celebreze claimed the governor has used emergency funds, which are set aside for catastrophes, to pay office expenses because "he has exhausted his office appropriation in 14½ months."

Celebreze, like Porter, also voiced disapproval at the right-to-work movement. He said such a law would "hack away" at collective bargaining and is "nothing but a device to bust unions."

Presbyterian Women Plan Special Service

The Women's Society of the First Presbyterian Church here will conduct special services in the church at 10:30 a. m. Sunday, designated "Women's Sunday".

MRS. HULDA SHOWALTER — Services for Mrs. Hulda Showalter, who died Sunday at her home on S. Elm St., were held at 1 p. m. Wednesday in the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home here by the Rev. Henry Leeth, pastor of the House of Prayer.

Mrs. Pearl Provost and Mr. Gladys Sabo sang "Beyond the Sunset," "The Old Rugged Cross" and "Shall We Gather at the River". They were accompanied by Mrs. Lydia Rumer.

Pallbearers for the burial in the Washington C. H. Cemetery were Carl Lyons, Walter Boggs, Thomas Calhoun, Thomas Skaggs, Charles Brill and Pearl Brill.

MISS ANNA PAYNE — Services for Miss Anna Payne, who died unexpectedly in her apartment, 108 E. Market St., Monday evening, were held at 2 p. m. Wednesday in the Gerstner Funeral Home by the Rev. L. J. Poe, pastor of Grace Methodist Church.

Pallbearers were Virgil and Clayton Sexton, Harold Grant, Paul Dowler and Paul and Walter Donohoe.

Burial was in the Washington C. H. Cemetery.

DAVID RUSSELL SINIFT — Services for David Russell Sinift, 73, who died at his home here Monday, were held at 2 p. m. Wednesday in the Gregg St. Church of Christ in Christian Union.

The Rev. Russell Knisley, former pastor of the church, officiated with the assistance of the Rev. Charles W. Ware.

The men's quartet of the church, consisting of Arthur Paul, Rev. Mr. Ware, Robert Harper and Carl Mann, sang "Zion's Hill", "When They Ring Those Golden Bells", and "Last Mile of the Way". Mrs. Dorothy Wallace accompanied at the organ.

Pallbearers were Kermit Van-Dyke, Ray Hawke, Wayne McCleary, Douglas Rife, Charles Farmer and Owen Harper.

Burial was in Bloomingburg Cemetery.

Cuban Troops

(Continued from Page One) rebels had been counted dead in the capital. Two policemen were killed in the suburbs and a number wounded.

The outbreak was the first fighting in Havana since Castro called for "total, implacable war" against Batista beginning last Saturday. Most of the recent fighting has been in easternmost Oriente province, Castro's headquarters area, where his guerrilla forces have knocked out most road and rail traffic.

Rebel leaders said only a trial maneuver was planned but hot-headed youths caused it to misfire. Insurgents had been instructed only to sabotage utility systems, force work suspensions and then declare the strike. But badly coordinated firing made it look like the big thing.

The finished produce will be presented to Salling at the home of his daughter, Mrs. H. A. McCormick, with whom he lives at the nearby community of Slant.

The only other survivor of the war, also a Confederate, is Walter Williams, 115, Franklin, Tex.

Retired Principal Says He'll Retire

GREENFIELD — C. E. Booher, principal of McClain High School since 1939, has announced he will retire at the expiration of a two-year contract granted him by the Board of Education here Tuesday night.

Booher, who joined the MHS faculty in 1925, pointed out in a letter to the board that he will have completed 38 years of teaching at the end of the current term.

Booher was reemployed by unanimous vote of the board at a salary of $6,800 per year, on the recommendation of Superintendent William M. West.

Hightland Fair Building Planned

HILLSBORO — A $9,000 concrete block merchants' building will be constructed on the Highland County Fairgrounds here, the Fair Board has agreed.

To be financed through pre-payment for display space, the building will be 56 feet wide by 128 feet long. Walls will be eight feet high, and the structure will have a metal roof and a concrete floor.

It was said that the Army had to set up a special mail detail to handle the volume. Cunningham received some 15 truckloads of mail.

THE CLEVELAND mayor predicted that "under the present fiscal policy the administration will run short of money and end up with a $30 million deficit."

He charged O'Neill has been using carryover funds for budgeting when traditionally they are used for capital improvements.

Also on the topic of money, Celebreze claimed the governor has used emergency funds, which are set aside for catastrophes, to pay office expenses because "he has exhausted his office appropriation in 14½ months."

Girl Soldiers To Fete Old Soldier, 111

FORT BLACKMORE, Va. — An old soldier, who in his 111 years "never saw a girl I didn't like," will play host Saturday to five gift-bearing members of the Women's Army Corps.

Their presentation to "General" John Salling, one of two surviving veterans of the Civil War, will be a new uniform that will make him a top officer in dress as well as in it.

The new outfit is an authentic replica of a Confederate general's uniform—made of summerweight material and loose in the waist as the "general" ordered.

The uniform was the result of newspaper stories last year in which Salling complained his wool Confederate uniform was "just too hot" for summer wear.

After reading of the spry old soldier's complaint, members of the Women's Army Corps at Ft. Myer, Va., formed a committee and collected contributions from 150 members of the two WAC companies on the base.

Armed with a bolt of cloth, yards of gold trimming and Salling's measurements, a tailor set to work.

The finished produce will be presented to Salling at the home of his daughter, Mrs. H. A. McCormick, with whom he lives at the nearby community of Slant.

The only other survivor of the war, also a Confederate, is Walter Williams, 115, Franklin, Tex.

First came the strike broadcasts at 11:30 a. m., the beginning of Havana's three-hour luncheon. About 75 rebels opened fire on police in the old port area while raiding parties knocked out some gas, electric and telephone services. Rebel snipers fired at police from rooftops in some districts.

Block-to-block fighting failed to develop, however, and police were able to concentrate on the isolated rebel groups and scatter them.

By 2 p. m. the outnumbered rebels were forced to abandon the fight. Most workers returned to their jobs after lunch, and the police counteroffensive began.

Most Lonesome Girl Of World War I Dies at Age 68

WAYNESBURG, Pa. — A western Pennsylvania man who was dubbed the "world's most lonesome soldier" in World War I died Wednesday at the age of 68.

Dode Cunningham of nearby Ruff Creek was given the nickname by a woman journalist who visited Camp Sherman near Chillicothe, Ohio, during World War I. She noted he was the only member of Company M, 330th Infantry Regiment, whose name never came up in mail call.

He wrote a widely published story about Cunningham and he became the object of a national letter-writing campaign that began his nickname.

It was said that the Army had to set up a special mail detail to handle the volume. Cunningham received some 15 truckloads of mail.

THE CLEVELAND mayor predicted that "under the present fiscal policy the administration will run short of money and end up with a $30 million deficit."

High Meat Price Probe Asked by Californian

GLENDORA, Calif. — The leader of a housewives' boycott today asked Sen. Kuchel (R-Calif) to investigate high meat prices.

Mrs. Barbara Crill, 23, said she wrote to Kuchel in Washington asking that he take action to lower meat prices.

The boycott, which began April 1, has spread from Santa Barbara to Long Beach. Mrs. Crill said, in some areas, she said, it has cut market meat sales as much as 30 per cent.

Celebreze, like Porter, also voiced disapproval at the right-to-work movement. He said such a law would "hack away" at collective bargaining and is "nothing but a device to bust unions."

Livestock People Interested In Reports

Fayette County farmers who make livestock raising for meat purposes an important factor in their business, are expressing interest in reports learned through officials of the packing industries who are stating that they foresee good years ahead for the meat industry.

It is being pointed out that all manner of favorable factors are at work toward bringing this about. Among these are a rapidly soaring population, a continuing trend toward higher protein diets, improved processing methods, and in many cases better marketing facilities.

Estimates from the federal Department of Agriculture appear to support this view. According to reliable forecasters, by the year 1975 the country will be needing 46 per cent more hogs than this year, 12 per cent more sheep and lambs, 27 per cent more cattle and calves. Substantial increases are also forecast for table fowl.

While all this has an encouraging sound, warning is also proclaimed that it doesn't mean that livestock farmers and others need do nothing more than sit back and enjoy their blessings as they come along.

They will have to remember that, after all, the consumer is their real boss, as well as the retailer and the packer's boss, because every dollar that any of these earn from beef, lamb, pork, or chickens, ultimately comes from the consumer's pocketbook.

In this connection there is pointed out the importance of consumer preference made in various places. These show, according to one example, that the consuming public wants beef with less fat but no loss in flavor, juiciness and tenderness. Orders such as this are big ones, but it's up to the meat industry to do its best to fill them.

Although the odds are long the industry probably will do just that. It's an industry characterized by initiative, independence and an inquiring spirit. It's not, happily, an industry which is bogged and hog-tied with overburdening government controls. It is not devoting a major portion of its time to seeking government subsidies.

TV--a Monopoly on Mediocrity

NEWS-YORK (AP) — Movie producer Jerry Wald, who likes to feel the public pulse, claims he knows what is the third most interesting thing in the world—to most people.

The answer may surprise you. It is sex.

"I polled 8,000 librarians all around the world," he said, "and asked them what were the themes of the books people asked for most often."

"The No. 1 theme turned out to be survival. The second favorite theme was security. Sex was third."

"Pictures that show sex for sex's sake, or violence for violence's sake—they are no good anymore. They have no future," Wald's conclusion.

He says the film business has undergone a big change in the last year.

"You have to lift a picture now to the level of your audience," said Wald.

"They are more hep. They are better educated, entertainment-wise, than any other generation in our history.

"Two years ago they asked, 'Who's in it?' Now they ask, 'What's it about?'"

Here are some more observations by Wald, who, at 45, is ranked as one of the smartest film executives:

"Television has a monopoly on mediocrity today. It is being brought by the guys in the empty gray flannel suits. They are poll parrots. We used to have guys like that in the movie business. We lost them. Perhaps they all went into TV."

"But TV has my sympathy. It turns out 500 hours of entertainment a year. They have to turn out 30,000 hours. How can it be good?"

"One of the problems we have in Hollywood is the need for more girls who look good in dresses, who can wear clothes is sex." Wald's conclusion.

"We're the only industry which, when it does something bad, tries to blame it on the audience. The people who make motor cars don't do that."

"Whatever is wrong with our business isn't the public's fault. It's ours."

Some -- like Lotte -- Age Gracefully By George Sokolsky

In this complaining world, it is so good to hear something cheerful, something dignified.

So I want to give you the words of Lotte Lehmann, 70, the Metropolitan Opera singer who sings no more. They are rich words and rich thoughts:

"I belong to those very blessed people who are able to live in the evening of their lives exactly as they wish. I live in great beauty of nature; and in inner harmony; and I have found a way to try to give to our young generation of singers what I have learned in a long career as a singer and performer."

"America is overflowing with talented young singers. To live vicariously in them; to sing with their voices... (since my own has completely disappeared); to live with them through their worries, their joys and their triumphs, that is now my life and it makes me very happy."

"Besides my main work, I have found many ways of expressing myself in new, and for me, exciting creative activities. Life is very full for me; the days have not enough hours. The only thing which is missing is time. Time runs away in a frightening tempo..."

How beautiful to approach Autumn in the spirit of Spring; to find a renewal of life's activities even in those later years when some only know of aches and complaints and egocentric dissipations.

Our population is growing older because we live longer, but many older people do not know what to do with their last years. They have not filled their lives with activities and ideas and satisfactions which sustain them in the years of lesser physical and mental strength.

The deepest hurt of old age, and the most usual, is disappointment in children. Each parent expects so much of his own; he sees in their faces luminous beauty which no one else sees; he imagines a brilliance which no one else recognizes. He anticipates a love and respect in old age which is too much for anyone to give.

Often oldsters forget that they themselves messed up the lives of their children by interference and annoyance and false doctrines and stupid prejudices.

Sometimes the parent is shocked that a particular boy loves a particular girl who is never good enough. And then for these older

Many Home Remedies Will Stop Hiccups

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

CALL it hiccup, hiccough or singultus, it's still nothing to joke about.

Hiccups result from anything which irritates the afferent or efferent nerve pathways or the centers which control the respiratory muscles, particularly the diaphragm.

I doubt that any of you have escaped an attack of hiccups. Maybe it was caused by laughing too heartily, swallowing hot foods or by any of a variety of other factors.

Cannot Be Traced

Often, temporary cases of hiccups cannot be traced to any specific cause. Prolonged sessions, however, usually can be accounted for.

Disorders of the stomach and esophagus, liver conditions and bladder irritations sometimes are at fault. Very often attacks occur during pregnancy. Some even result from psychogenic causes, although these hiccups generally disappear while eating.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

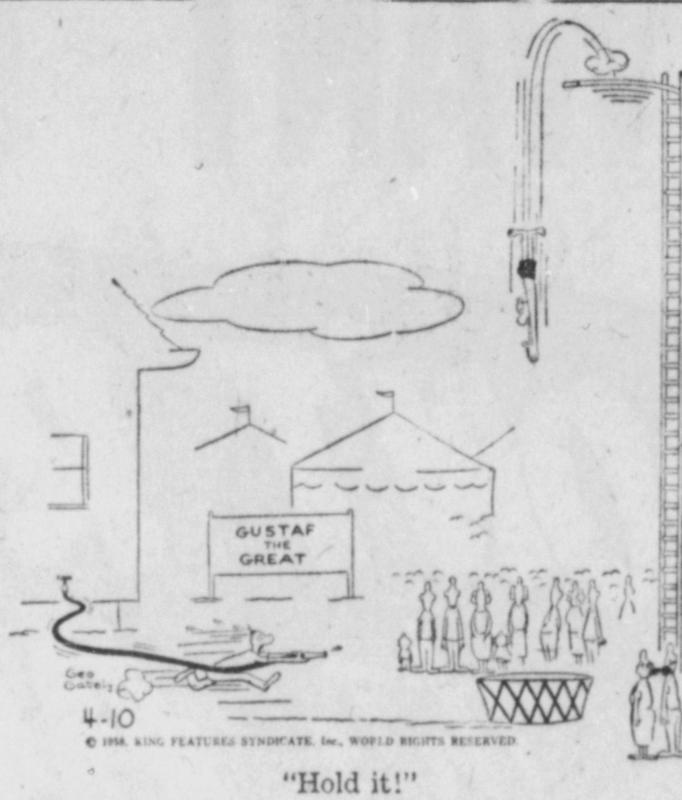

B.R.: I am a man of 56. For the past year, I have suffered from pains in the calves of my legs when walking. My feet also are very cold. What would you advise?

Answer: It would seem that you have some disturbance of the circulation of your legs. There are many drugs and certain operations available to cure this disorder.

Take a series of deep breaths; breathe into a paper bag to build up the CO₂ in your body.

A Canadian freighter collided with a French vessel and both went aground in a Belgian harbor. However, this was one international complication that was quickly remedied.

There was a heavy fall of highland dew at Edinburgh the other day. In a traffic accident 12,000 fifths of Scotch whisky were dumped.

assumed—trying to jump over the moon.

The Nation Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has spoken very firmly on buying things and streamlining the Defense Department although what he says one day may not sound exactly like what he said some previous day.

He has talked on both subjects at his news conferences over a period of months, starting last October.

Oct. 30—At this time, before the recession had deepened, he was asked for advice to housewives and consumers on how to cope with rising prices. He said: "I just believe in a period of rising prices like in any other thing people should attempt to purchase less than when prices are going down."

Between then and March the recession got deeper and prices went higher.

March 5—Eisenhower said: "I believe, of course, that the upturn in our economy will be the result of millions of citizens making their purchases, having greater confidence."

March 26—He said: "I believe that the American public now should be buying on the basis of the worth of the product that is offered them." He suggested business do better packaging and advertising job to encourage buying.

(On April 7 Secretary of the Treasury Anderson, speaking at the opening of a savings bond drive, urged people to buy bonds. He said those doing so are "simply temporarily transferring their purchasing power to the government.")

April 9—Asked what people should do to make the recession recede, Eisenhower said: "Buy... He was asked: "Buy what?" He said: "Anything."

Then, reminded that Anderson suggested people put their money in bonds, Eisenhower replied: "Well, I don't say you should buy head off."

selective... Let's take the things we need." He took a crack at manufacturers, suggesting they are trying to sell things people don't want.

He has spoken twice at some length on his plans for reorganizing the Defense Department. The first time was in January while the plans were still under study.

Jan. 15—He said: "Now my personal convictions, no matter how strong, cannot be the final answer. There must be a consensus reached with Congress."

I would be the last to ask for a detailed organization in which I believe, because, I think, organization has got to be effective after there has passed from the scene a man who happens to have particularly strong convictions in the matter."

Asked if he would or wouldn't fight for whatever plan he finally came up with, Eisenhower didn't say yes or no but did say, "My views will be expressed to the very best I can."

Last week he sent his plan to Congress. It ran into some stiff opposition from Democrats and Republicans, particularly because of the power it would give Secretary of Defense McElroy.

April 9—Told some "very powerful men" of both parties in Congress were opposed to his plan, Eisenhower was asked how he intended to get it through Congress.

A well-stocked pantry is a good wife's pride and joy. From it she can produce a family meal... a company dish... a midnight treat. So, stock up on these "come-in-hand" foods. You'll find all kinds of interesting foods at your grocer's from which you can whip up impromptu meals. Pile your shopping basket high, and lay in plenty of Coke—your best friend on so many occasions. Coke will welcome guests... brighten meals... brighten you when you want refreshment.

FRUIT SALAD LUNCHEON. Chill canned fruits. For a "dressing" stir whipped evaporated milk into mayonnaise, add diced maraschino cherries and slivered almonds. Serve hot muffins and ice-cold Coca-Cola. You show your own good taste in serving Coke—favorite of the world.

GLAZED HAM AND YAMS. Spread canned ham with orange marmalade, stud with cloves, bake until glazed. Put canned yams in same pan, baste with drippings. With this "thirsty" dish you'll want ice-cold Coca-Cola. Coke has the clean sparkling taste that livens up every bite of food!

Lovell-Handel Wedding Plans Are Completed

Miss Linda Ruth Lovell and Mr. Willis J. Handel Jr. have completed their open church wedding plans.

Miss Lovell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Lovell, 604 S. Fayette St. Mr. Handel's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Handel Sr., of Upper Arlington.

The double ring ceremony will be performed by the Rev. L. J. Poe in Grace Methodist Church at 3:30 p.m. Saturday.

A half hour program of nuptial music, preceding the ceremony, will be presented by Mr. Grover Barber, vocalist, and Miss Ann Hirer, organist.

Miss Jo Davis of Washington C. H. will be Miss Lovell's maid of honor. Bridesmaids will include Mrs. Robert Chaney, Miss Linda Brown, both of Washington C. H.; Mrs. John Cameron, Columbus; and Miss Mary Lou Stouder, Evansville Ind.

Mr. Handel will be his son's best man. Guests will be seated by Mr. David Roff, Springfield; Dr. William L. Lovell of Bowling Green, Ky., brother of the bride-elect; Mr. Larry Brown and Mr. William Blunden, both of Columbus.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Washington C. H. High School and Ohio State University where she was a member of Delta Omicron, music honorary, and Pi Lambda Theta, education honorary.

Mr. Handel is a graduate of Staunton Military Academy, Staunton, Va., and of Ohio State University where he was a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. He is now associated with the Central Foundry Division of General Motors Corp. in Defiance.

The prospective bride-groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Handel, will honor the bridal party with a rehearsal dinner in the Hotel Washington Friday evening.

87th Birthday Celebrated By Mrs. Arnold

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Arnold returned to their home in Chicago Wednesday after spending the last three days visiting with Mr. Arnold's mother, Mrs. Ella Arnold, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Arnold.

They came especially to help Mr. Arnold's mother celebrate her 87th birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Arnold held open house Sunday afternoon and many of Mrs. Arnold's friends called to extend their congratulations. Mrs. Arnold is the widow of Anderson Arnold, and one of the very few Civil War widows living.

The Arnold home was beautifully decorated throughout with spring flower arrangements.

Bands, minstrels, musicians and singers all contribute to the gay festivities. The real purpose of all is diversion in the uplifting spirit of music, Mrs. Creamer said.

Several songs were sung by Miss Beverley Horney, who also played her own accompaniment on the guitar.

Following the program, Mrs. Mrs. Creamer served a dessert course.

American Woman Carries Big Stick; But Can She Kill Current Recession?

NEW YORK (AP)—The American housewife who holds the family pursestrings, say the economists, can stop the current recession in its tracks—by keeping her nerve, her temper and her head in a difficult period.

Many factors combine today to affect adversely the nation's complicated economy: production cuts, rising food costs, housing costs, expansion slowdowns, unemployment.

"But if you add to that an arbitrary personal refusal to spend money, this can send the economy into a tailspin," says economist Leo Cherne of the Research Institute. "The very worst thing that could happen now is for the American family to be panicked into saving beyond its normal saving."

Statistics indicate, at least to the economists, that housewives and breadwinners are far have been maintaining normal habits in that huge area called "consumer spending." Sharp drops have been noted, however, in some special fields, notably automobile purchases.

And although the diagnosticians differ among themselves on the recession's cause, and differ even more in their opinions on the cure, they are generally agreed that money hoarding—the wide development of a fear of buying—can be disastrous.

"The primary thing about the current slump is not to get pessimistic, to keep one's confidence up," says an economist who is also a housewife. She is Jo Bingham, executive of the Government Finance Department of the National Assn. of Manufacturers and in private life the wife of a Connecticut businessman.

"Psychology is one of the largest factors in a boom or in a depression," she says, adding this word of caution: "But I think that any housewife will feel as I feel—that being pressed into buying just means higher prices. The 'buy more' pitch just leads to buy more inflation."

"Every buyer should shop for the best purchase," she continues, "and every woman should try to get the most for her money. It isn't necessary to go on a buying spree to ward off the worst. Just don't get scared and stop normal buying—keep on trying to get the best product for the best price."

A different theory on the cause of the economy's troubles comes from psychologist Ernest Dichter, who heads an organization whose specialty is "motivational research," or digging for the motives behind the actions of people. Dr. Dichter agrees heartily that recessions as well as boom times are psychological. But he thinks much of the current slump has been wrought by consumers—housewives and breadwinners—who are not so much scared as irritated.

"Several of our studies have revealed that consumers actually welcome signs of a recession," Dichter recently told a meeting of sales executives. ". . . This is a period in which the consumer is putting the manufacturer on the spot. He wants to find out how much he has been overcharged or whether he has been treated with fairness in the past. If prices are indiscriminately slashed, there is a grave danger that the consumer will become more than ever convinced that he was being cheated during a period of prosperity. He will hold out and wait for the moment when he really has the manufacturer over a barrel—a moment when prices hit rock bottom. What is needed, then, is not merely a reduction of prices, but even a better communication between the advertiser and the consumer, an explanation of price policies."

Make a Gay Toy Clown

By DOROTHY ROE
Women's Editor

Every youngster loves to collect pillows, stuffed toys and dolls to decorate the bedroom. In fact, plenty of college girls still treasure the toys they loved as babies.

Sewing oils with just the right personality are sometimes hard to find, local sewing center experts suggest you whip one up on your sewing machine. Here, for example, is an appealing clown, 14 inches tall and a perfect bedtime companion.

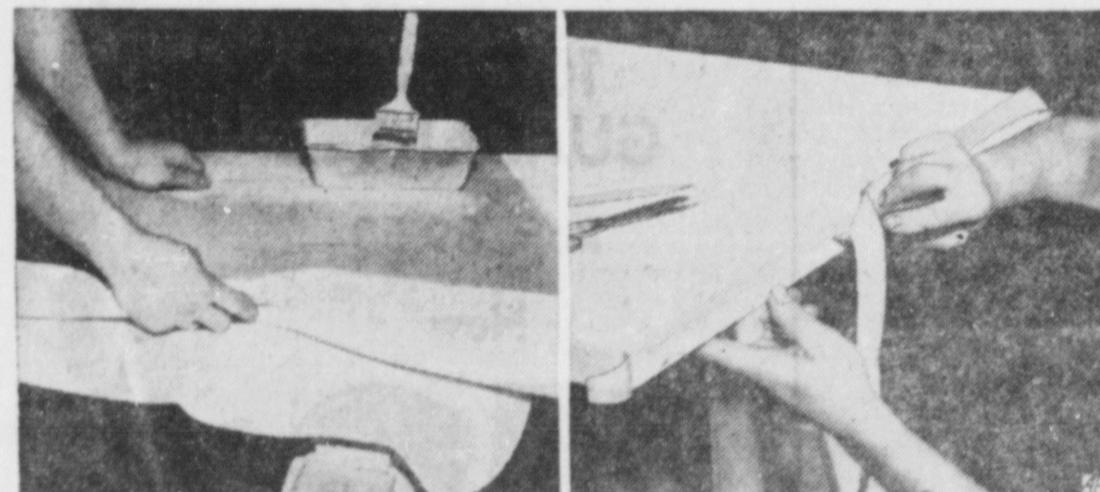

The toy clown is made from a standard pattern and requires only a half yard of white fabric for the body, three-eighths yard each of solid red and red and white fabric for his suit and one-eighth yard bright blue cotton for the ruffle around his neck. A magic blue transfer in the pattern envelope takes care of his face.

HE MAY be stuffed with shredded foam rubber, or with cotton batting. Use scraps of black felt or plastic for his shoes and bits of a knife.

CUDDLE TOYS . . . This stuffed clown is a perfect bedtime companion for a small child, is easy to make.

Vinyl Fabrics Hide Decorating Errors

PROTECT YOUR DOOR from children and animals with a vinyl slipcover. Coat the door with adhesive, as shown at the left, and then bring the fabric up and over, as at the right, using the scissors to cut a slit for the corner tab.

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

You can cover up your decorating mistakes these days instead of tearing your hair out or going to a psychiatrist to calm your shattered nerves.

A marred wall or a scarred table top or a door that has been scuffed and kicked by tiny feet may be treated to a fancy overcoat to hide the nicks, offering easier cleanliness as a dividend. In some instances, you can do your cover up just before the company comes.

Walls have been treated to new glamor, not only with the wonderful paper murals, now available, but with plastic textured and plain coverings, in colors, simulating brick or bamboo, and other familiar materials.

Sheets of rigid washable vinyl in 2 x 4 sheets for instance, may be installed quickly and easily over any surface—paper, plastic, plaster, without tools by the home handy woman. Just apply adhesive to the backing and press on the wall. The bamboo makes a lovely dado treatment for sunroom dining room or living room also.

VINYL FABRIC is available, too, by the yard through local distributors—wallpaper and paint stores and mail order houses. The fabric runs to 54 inches, and may be used lengthwise or horizontally, as in the instance of covering a door.

Beloved Pie Cook's Fitting Birthday

VINITA, Okla. (AP)—For 35 years before retiring in 1947, Mrs. W. E. Updegraff cooked in the cafe she ran here. She estimated when she retired she had baked more than 375,000 pies.

To celebrate her 75th birthday this year, Mrs. Updegraff's children rented the cafe and hundreds of friends showed up to wish her well. The big conversation was still her mouth-watering pies that no one could forget.

'Fair Lady' Award Presented To Girls for Good Grooming

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Beauty Editor

Keep your face clean, girls, and you may win a prize. Your school may take a leaf from girls of Washington Irving High School, and elect you 'Fair Lady.'

That title just went to four girls for observing a good grooming code devised by their schoolmates. The idea originated a couple of months ago when students were encouraged to draw up the code, spruce up their appearance, and choose one girl from each class as fair lady of the group. The faculty's theory was that a girl who takes pride in her personal appearance will earn good conduct merits.

It turned out there were 67 fair ladies in the student body of 3,500, a job for the judges—15 girls on the student committee and 6 faculty members. But four were finally chosen, and good grooming laurels went to Doris Gallagher, Anne Baranek, Joan Mestrovich and Patricia Psychogios, chosen as the "Four Fair Ladies." They received awards—American beauty roses, a beauty kit, and a string of pearls, presented by stage and screen star, Madeleine Carroll, who reminded the girls that they should "never underestimate the importance of being a woman."

Gates of Fabulous San Simeon Will Swing Open to Public Soon

La Casa Grande, brightest jewel of San Simeon.

By LEONARD J. SNYDER
Central Press Assn.

SAN SIMEON, Calif. — The public will soon have the opportunity to see the classic beauty and lavish splendor of San Simeon which has been called the finest estate in all America.

The fabulously ornate 80,000-acre estate of the late William Randolph Hearst, to be opened to tourists for the first time this spring, is in a storybook setting nestled in the Santa Lucia mountains midway between Los Angeles and San Francisco overlooking the Pacific.

To those who ride up the mile-long exasperated arbor, through gates which open and close by running over a metal rod, the main house, La Casa Grande, may resemble a massive Hollywood movie set.

Surprisingly, however, the visitor who expects to be awed by the solemnity and vastness of La Casa Grande will find its richly appointed rooms with their artistically placed treasures warm and friendly.

Velvet draperies stand out handsomely at the entrance leading to the castle's massive Assembly Room decked with Flemish tapestries.

FOR THOSE who preferred more physical exercise, the 84-foot long gold mosaic indoor salt-water pool, which cost $1 million and took Italian artisans three and a half years to finish, was also available next to the smaller but equally ornate pool for children.

AROUND THE ROOM, with its hand-carved ceiling that once belonged to the royal Spanish family, are carved choir seats, one of which is actually a secret door leading to an unusual octagon-shaped elevator that was formerly an Italian confessional.

From the assembly room Hearst would lead his guests to the magnificent "Refectory" or dining room that is lined with 300-year-old Siamese banners above the long monastery table flanked by Spanish chairs and decorated with Irish silver candelabra.

"FLYING SAUCER" IN PRODUCTION—First production model of the U. S. Navy's new Grumman WF-2 radar plane flies over Bethpage, N. Y. Beyond it is the prototype model. That huge radome atop gives the WF-2 its "flying saucer" appearance. Lower: Here's why the WF-2 is valuable defensewise. When low-flying enemy planes approach (A), ground radar cannot detect them till they are quite near. But the WF-2, flying high (B), has a vastly longer "reach" before it hits its horizon. Student's Tiny Atom Detector Hailed; He'll Get 'A' Grade

By JOHN F. SEMBOWER

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. — A radiation detector so tiny that it fits into the head of a hypodermic needle, developed by an advanced science student at Purdue University, appears to have scored a major breakthrough in the treatment of deadly brain tumors.

The detector may have untold applications in the dawning atomic era when such detectors, like the famed Geiger counter, will have an ever-increasing role in many branches of human activity.

James Walter Mayer, 27, invented the revolutionary device while working for his graduate degree under the direction of Dr. K. Lark-Horovitz, head of physics at Purdue and one of the leaders in the development of the small transistors which have opened the way to miniaturization of all electronic equipment, including radio and television.

The new detector, known as an alpha particle spectrometer, is in use at the Massachusetts General Hospital and at the Brookhaven National Laboratory of the Atomic Energy commission.

IT HAS DRAMATIC application in brain tumor treatment which starts with injection into the patient's blood stream of a solution containing the element boron.

When the patient's head is exposed to bombardment of radiation from a nuclear reactor, the boron in the tumor explodes, giving off radiation in the form of alpha particles.

The alpha particles blast through the tumor, killing or crippling the diseased cells. The alpha particles only travel a fraction of an inch and their destructive effects therefore are limited to the tumor tissue.

One of the body's natural defenses known as the blood-brain barrier makes the treatment possible, because it retards the entry of foreign matter in the brain. Since there is no such barrier in tumor tissue, the injected boron solution concentrates in the tumor for 30 to 40 minutes.

DRS. LEE F. FARR and W. H. Sweet of Brookhaven report that, "This therapy can inhibit a brain tumor for at least four months following a single treatment, and it may some day become a cure for such tumors."

Mayer's device can tell doctors for the first time exactly where the alpha particles come from and where they go.

In fact, several of the tiny detectors can be used at once to plot the exact location of the alpha emitted by colonades reminiscent of the Roman era.

Today, the grounds are quiet, with only caretaker Norman Rotanze and his wife, Ann, in residence. By next summer, however, tourists will be teeming over the hill-top Moorish-towered castle gaping with astonishment and wonder at all of the exquisite beauty.

particles and "map" the tumor area.

THE DETECTOR'S working heart is a crystal of germanium about the size of a flake of black pepper, which gives off a measurable pulse of positive electricity every time it is struck by an alpha particle, operating on the same general principle as the transistor.

Mayer's work is hailed by his professors as indication that students can make practical scientific contributions of great significance while still studying. Mayer is married and has four children.

He graduated in 1952 with high honors in mechanical engineering.

When he returned to Purdue for graduate study after duty in the Army, he took up physics, and was assigned to the solid-state physics group which was responsible for the revolutionary work in transistors, and started research under Dr. B. R. Gossick on the use of germanium.

The detector was a practical outgrowth of his basic research on that substance and an offshoot of his doctoral thesis project.

NEA Group Seeking To Ban Magazine from Classrooms

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — A National Education Assn. agency wants high school principals to consider banning Time and Life from classrooms "as long as they have an attitude and policy inimical to education."

The letter was signed by Paul E. Elcker, executive secretary, and George E. Shattuck, president.

Elcker told the Louisville Times that the letter was approved by the secondary school principals' board before it was mailed.

Elcker said the Life article contained untruths and that his association took exception to statistics which purported to prove that science, mathematics and foreign languages are neglected studies in U.S. schools.

The general manager of Life, Robert T. Elson, told the Times that the magazine would not engage in any exchange of statements with Elcker or his organization.

"Life obviously would not publish a story it did not consider to be true or in the best interests of the American community," Elson said.

This Jumping Coed Says 'Aw, Chute'

By FRANKLIN JOHNSON
Central Press Assn.

CINCINNATI, O. — "Come on out, the air's fine!" says Peggy Mittendorf, a University of Cincinnati coed who learned to parachute in three days and now follows it as a hobby and sport which might save her life some time.

She doesn't think it makes sense in the air age for people to steer clear of parachuting when it is accepted that you should learn to swim if you go near the water, and so many people these days are installing safety belts in their cars.

All you need, she explains, is a competent instructor who will show you how to steer yourself toward a nice, soft landing place, and who will gently nudge you from the plane when you hesitate to shove off on that first nerve-chilling plunge from 2,000 feet up!

PEGGY who hails from Tucson, first learned about parachuting and the availability, these days, of civilian instructors when her mother, who conducts a television program there, interviewed Curtis Hughes, also of Tucson.

Hughes offered to show Peggy how easy it is, and that afternoon he was strapping her into the harness of a 'chute.

It was a Thursday, and Peggy was due to leave on Sunday for her return to college, but in those three days she qualified as one of the nation's proficient women parachute jumpers.

She has been practicing ever since, and now is a devotee of parachuting, which, she says, is followed in Europe as a sport that is regarded as less hazardous than a n sports car racing or skiing.

HUGHES FIRST "strings up" a trainee in the hanger, so the student can feel how it is to be suspended from the shrouds and harness. Then he spends several hours teaching him how to fall, land, roll and guide himself by pulling the shroud lines.

Finally, the fledgling parachutist is ready for the test of an actual jump from a plane.

This is done from a light training craft where all you have to do is open the door and step over the fixed landing gear. If you hesitate the first time, as virtually all do, including Peggy, Hughes is there to give you a gently nudge into space!

As with Peggy's first jump, a static jump line is used so the ripcord is attached to the plane and the chute opens automatically after three seconds and when the jumper is clear of all danger of fouling with the plane or propeller.

IT WAS the danger — more fancied than real, it turned out — of being sucked into the propeller which kept early fliers from using parachutes. In the closing days of World War I, Germany airmen were jumping regularly and Allied aviators were considering it seriously.

Balloon aviators, not having problems to worry about, started jumping in parachutes as early as 1793, when J. P. Blanchard, a Frenchman, made the initial successful leap after first dropping a canine in a basket to make sure it would work.

The sensation which impresses parachutists most at first is that they seem to be suspended while the earth rises slowly up to them.

Actually, they are falling at the rate of about 15 feet per second, or 70 miles an hour. The impact on landing is about the same as a jump from an eight-foot ladder.

To break the fall, the parachutist is taught to lift himself at the moment of impact by grasping the shroud lines.

Peggy considers it less hazardous than riding horses, broncos and bulls as she did in junior rodeos in Arizona, and less bruising than the hockey, basketball and softball she plays at the university where she is studying to be a physical education teacher.

Ohio Excise Tax Collections Drop

COLUMBUS (AP) — Ohio's excise tax collections nosedived in March, particularly on high-powered beer and ale.

The state collected only $1,197,578 in high-powered beer and ale taxes last month, a drop of $409,342 below March 1957. That was a decrease of 25½ per cent.

Collections on 3.2 beer dropped $25,996, a 17½ per cent decrease, and cigarette tax collections fell off $24,053, a drop of less than 1 per cent.

Still, collections from all excise taxes in the fiscal year which began July 1 are slightly more than $2½ million ahead of the 1956-57 bookkeeping year.

New Yorker Runs Industrial Empire from Sea-Going Craft

By MEL HEIMER
Central Press Assn.

NEW YORK — It is seldom we come across someone of whom we can say with complete envy, "That boy has it made"—but pause a moment and consider Victor Muscat, this boy really has it made.

Muscat, a New York businessman controlling a $20 million empire, is at this moment somewhere on the water in or off Florida or in the neighborhood of the Bahamas and Cuba. In a sense, he is vacationing — but in a larger sense and true one, he is working. For Victor Muscat's office is the 63-foot yacht North Star.

Not too long ago Muscat was a typical Manhattan executive, shuttling between his duties as president of Victor Metals Products Corp. and his other companies, Aluminum and Chemical, Ltd., Pan Coastal Insurance Company, United American Machine Company and so on.

He took up boating as a sport—but when the bug hit hard, he shut down his New York office and took to the seas.

Muscat put in special equipment aboard the North Star — teleprinter machine and an electrical circuit to take care of electric typewriters and adding machines—and hired a captain, cook and personal secretary. He was then in business floating business.

THE TELEPRINTER machine, which can be plugged into any yacht basin in the country, is hooked up with his various plants around the nation, and Muscat also is in constant touch with them by phone.

Muscat claims he gets more work done in four hours aboard the North Star than most executives do in eight, back in turbulent New York.

"I have no petty distractions, no office routine to contend with, no two-hour luncheons, no time wasted seeing people who are of no use to me," he says.

"I invite fellow businessmen, lawyers, purchasing agents and bankers aboard my yacht — and, surprisingly, no one ever refuses a conference on the North Star. I can't understand why."

THE NORTH STAR, built by the Consolidated Shipbuilding company of the Bronx for the Singer Sewing Machine Co. and launched into the Harlem River, at one time was a Navy patrol boat and was refitted as a yacht in 1945 at a cost of almost $60,000.

In it, Muscat cruises in the south in winter and along Long Island sound and the New England coast in summer. Her winter berth is Charleston, S.C.

Mrs. Muscat, a former actress and the daughter of one of the former vice presidents of the Bankers Trust Co., is all for her husband's unorthodox business behavior.

THE TELEPRINTER machine,

Now, Mrs. Muscat doesn't spend all her time aboard the North Star, but says she sees more of Victor than many a commuter's wife. "The three children and I always can hop down the coast to meet him," she explains.

Lambert, who said the mixup was caused by the failure of communications to keep up with actual reservations, telephoned Smedberg. He said the midshipmen

Airline Told How To Help Midshipmen

CHICAGO (AP) — The superintendent of the U. S. Naval Academy has let an airline take full blame because 10 midshipmen were late in returning from Easter vacation.

"Make this report to me in writing and the ax won't fall," Rear Adm. W. R. Smedberg III told George Lambert, district sales manager of Trans World Airlines.

The mixup developed Monday morning, at Chicago's Midway Airport. Fourteen midshipmen waited in line to board the 80-seat TWA plane to Washington. Their tickets all had been validated.

But 25 students from suburban Wheaton High School were conducted aboard the plane ahead of the others so they could pose for photographs before leaving for their annual class trip to the nation's capital.

The midshipmen were last in line. After four of them boarded the plane, TWA agents announced the flight had been oversold. The remaining 10 midshipmen were told they would have to go by a later plane.

They protested. Their families and friends protested. TWA agents said they couldn't do more than get them luncheon tickets and first class seats on a Capital Airlines plane leaving 2 hours and 20 minutes later.

The midshipmen missed the return deadline at the academy and were in line for severe restrictions and demerits.

Lambert, who said the mixup was caused by the failure of communications to keep up with actual reservations, telephoned Smedberg. He said the midshipmen

Georgia Teacher Is Reinstated

LAKELAND, Ga. (AP)—Mrs. A. B. Baskin, a teacher who said she was forced to resign over a segregation incident, has been reinstated.

The reinstatement was voted by the county board at a meeting attended by state school officials. It was effective Feb. 1, the date of her resignation, and means she will lose no salary because of her absence.

Mrs. Baskin, 65, allowed a white school boy, whose own bus had left, to ride home in a Negro school bus. She claimed that she was pressured into resigning. County board members, however, maintained that she quit voluntarily when the incident was discussed with her.

Toledo University Fund Campaign Said Success

TOLEDO (AP)—A $1 million goal in a campaign to finance construction of a new engineering-science building at the University of Toledo has been reached and may be topped, campaign chairman President Lewis said.

The contributions matched another $1 million allocated by city council last year for the project. Construction is to start in June, with completion scheduled for 1960.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

Thirty years ago when the two rural mail routes out of Jeffersonville were consolidated the new route was the largest in the United States, with 310 boxes, or families, to be served.

The route also was 54½ miles in length so that the carrier, Ora A. Allen, had his hands full every day of delivery.

The two routes were consolidated following the resignation of carrier George Matthews, due to ill health.

Today the route serves 320 boxes and is 60.2 miles in length, or much larger than it was when it was listed as the largest route in the country.

Postmaster Gilbert Coil, says that sometime ago a cousin of his who was carrier on the rural route out of Spring Valley, informed him that he had approximately 500 boxes on the route, and traveled 77 miles in delivering the mail.

Since that time the route has been changed, and the number of boxes and mileage substantially increased.

Jeffersonville attracted wide attention many years ago when, through the efforts of Warren W. Williams, who was postmaster at the time, experimental free delivery was put into effect in the town, the first community of its size to receive free mail delivery by carrier.

The service has continued throughout the years, although the town is still probably the smallest in the nation where free mail delivery is enjoyed by the residents.

OLDEST LIVING THING

In all probability there is no tree standing in Fayette County today that is over 300 years old, and most of them are well under that.

However, when the county was well covered with timber, some of the trees, which were not subject to so many diseases as those of today and were relatively free of destructive insects, probably attained an age of 500 to 800 years. Some of the "giants of the forest" were 6 to 10 feet in diameter.

Until recent years it was believed that the great redwood trees of California were the oldest trees, and oldest living thing in the world, inasmuch as the giant sequoia tree "General Sherman" was estimated to be 3,500 years old.

However scientists have established the fact that the "Bristle Cone" pine trees are probably 1, 000 years older than the sequoias or redwoods.

The Bristle Cone pine grows in the White Mountains of eastern California, and one more than 4,000 years old has been found.

In addition to seeing the monster sequoias, one with an age of 3,212 years, I have seen the oldest trees in the Eastern United States which are the American Arborvitae trees at Natural Bridge, Va., with an estimated age of 1,800 to 2,000 years.

GARDENS IMPORTANT

Indications are that more gardens will be cultivated in Fayette County and Ohio generally this year, than during any year since the last World War, due largely to the so-called "recession" in business which has left many without regular jobs.

Already I have seen many persons (chiefly women) clearing gardens preparatory to having them plowed or spaded so early vegetables may be planted.

A great many people have long since discovered that a good garden not only provides a surprisingly large amount of delicious, healthy vegetables, but it substantially reduces the grocery bill.

Also many persons without regular employment can find time to work their gardens—instead of allowing the women folks to look after this difficult job.

WHAT KIND, ANYWAY?

About 45 years ago O. S. Tobin made almost all of the ice cream used in Washington C. H. and community in his plant located in the alley east of Memorial Hall building, (between Court and East Sts.)

It was delivered in buckets and bins, packed in ice, and served by dipping it from the container kept packed in ice.

Tobin's ice cream was almost an institution in the community, and was handled by many of the grocery stores of the city.

It is recalled by a local resident that an uncle arrived from an adjacent city to make a visit here, and as he was being driven down Fayette St. (in a buggy) the visitor saw a sign on Shropshire's Grocery just north of Sunnyside School grounds (now the Seyfang Pine) reading:

"Ice Cream Tobins"

The visitor said:

"What's the difference between ice cream cones and ice cream Tobins?"

Which reminds me that I was told recently by a local resident who attended the St. Louis World's Fair in 1904 that it was there ice cream cones were first introduced on a large scale, and nearly everyone walked about eating them. They were advertised by the words: "Eat your cake with your ice cream".

Thief Hides Meat In His Long Johns

KANSAS CITY (UPI)—A man carrying two packages of pork steak inside his long underwear was cut on the leg as a supermarket operator tried to retrieve the meat with a butcher knife.

Police said Marvin Gray, 39, was stopped in the store and admitted having the packages.

But Gray and two store employees couldn't get the meat out. So they decided to cut the underwear leg.

In the process Gray suffered a three-inch cut on the left leg above the ankle. He was treated at a hospital, then jailed.

What To Wear Over, Under Those New Sack Fashions

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Girls who think they can shed their girdles when they step into a chemise are due for a shock.

Unless you really want to look like a sack of potatoes in your new spring outfit, you will do well to take extra care to have the right underpinnings.

In order to look right, say designers, the chemise dress must be carefully fitted through the shoulders and bust and at the hip-line. If it is properly designed, it isn't just cut like a flour sack, but actually requires more skillful cutting and shaping than a fitted dress.

Since the new styles touch the body at only a few places, the body has to be under proper control at those spots.

You won't need a waist-cincher this spring, it's true, but you will need a different kind of bra and girdle. The bandeau with rounded cups is the most popular bra for wear with the new dresses, which do not look well if the bosom is exaggerated.

Since the most popular style of chemise tapers toward the hem-line and clings to the thighs, it is important to have an unbroken line from hips to hem. This calls for a long panty girdle, reaching to just above the knees. This garment is much in demand these days, since it gives a smooth line to the thighs and is right for wear both with sack dresses and with slacks.

The general idea, say the corset and bra manufacturers, is to modify the bustline, ease the waistline, narrow the hipline and control the thighs. They emphasize the fact, however, that there is no reason to flatten the bosom, as did girls of the flapper era, when the chemise made its first bow.

The same silhouette follows through in corsets, which also are increasingly popular for wear with the new unfitted fashions, since they give the figure a smooth line. Newest corsets are the panty corsets, mostly all-elastic pull-on styles for youthful figures. The strapless corset, either panty or regular style, also is ideal for wear with the new draped chiffon evening sheaths, due for much attention this spring and summer.

The return of the chemise brings back the jewelry styles of the 1920s, too.

If your taste runs to sack silhouettes for spring, you undoubtedly will want ropes and ropes of beads in all lengths and all colors, to add the correct finishing touch.

Some of the new flapper necklaces dangle almost to the knees, and are worn with at least half-a-dozen others in varying lengths. After all, when your dress is not only unfitted but also untrimmed, you have to do something to brighten up the general effect.

Among the bead ropes available in shops all over the country this spring are everything from 120-inch ropes to chokers, with all the lengths between provided for. The 30-inch rope is in greatest demand, but usually is worn with several other stands of beads in varying lengths.

These necklaces come in every color of the rainbow, in fake sapphires, pearls, amethysts, topaz, turquoise, rubies, emeralds, and rhinestones. Some combine several stones.

There also are long lariat chains, which may be worn in combination with the bead ropes.

To complete the picture, the girl who is up on her flapper styles wears earrings to match—not any shy, retiring little clips, either, but big, bold clusters or long dangling chandelier-type earrings.

And she probably will use a couple of necklaces to wind around her wrists to make multiple-strand bracelets.

Standout Buy This Week Is Still Poultry

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
What's new on the food front this week?

Beef, pork and lamb are among the specials offered by many U.S. markets this weekend but prices are not cheap.

Poultry is still the standout buy.

Turkeys for roasting and chickens for frying are available at attractive prices almost everywhere.

Beef cuts offered at slightly reduced prices include boneless chuck pot roast, sirloin, hamburger, round steak and beef blade.

Egg prices are charting an erratic course this week — up in some cities and down in others. The general trend is lower.

The over-all trend of food prices is still upward. Market analysts say there's some hope of lower prices by late spring.

Rail Union Aide Dies

CLEVELAND (AP)—William R. Dunzweiler, 70, of Lakewood, who retired last March after 15 years as an auditor for the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, died Wednesday in a hospita.

Vegetables should reach the market and by summer additional supplies of vegetables and local harvests of fresh fruits should reduce food bills by a considerable margin. The one big "if" in the picture is the weather.

Good buys in vegetables now include dandelions and broccoli rabe. Beets, collards, snap beans, cabbage, asparagus, endive, escarole, mushrooms, Maine and Idaho potatoes and iceberg lettuce are attractively priced.

Florida citrus fruits have come down a little but prices still reflect crop damage from winter storms.

Kiddies Die In Home Fire

CLEVELAND (AP)—A flash fire swept through a 2½-story frame house today and killed five children, all under 8 years of age.

Their mother, who was preparing breakfast when the fire started, escaped with her 2-year-old daughter. Neighbors tried to save the children, but the flames blocked off the rescue attempts.

Killed in the fire were these children of Arthur Hicks, 30, and his wife, Ann, 24: Richard, 7, Robert 6, Barbara 5, Roger 4, and Ronald, 4 months.

Mrs. Hicks said she was in the kitchen of the house with 2-year-old Christine when the fire started. She and the baby girl were burned slightly.

"I was in the kitchen when I heard a thud," Mrs. Hicks told newsmen. "I thought the children had gotten up. I turned and saw the pantry was on fire."

The clarinet was developed in Nuremberg in 1690.

The leaves of the banana tree are 10 feet long.

"I ran to the front room to call the fire department. I didn't know the number, so I dialed the operator. When I hung up, I ran back to the kitchen and was going to get the children. The whole house seemed to be on fire."

"All I could do was grab Christine and run out of the house."

A neighbor coaxed three of the four children upstairs out on the porch roof. I tried to get them to jump, but they went back in."

The father, who had left for his job at Park Drop Forge Co. just before the fire started, said:

"All my life I've been afraid of fire, and now one had to take my children."

NEW FEDERATION STAMP—Princess Margaret will inaugurate the British West Indies Federal Legislature on April 22 in Trinidad. Also on that day, the release of three new denominations of stamps—one of which is shown above—will commence. They will carry a portrait of Queen Elizabeth II of Great Britain by the artist Annigoni, a map of the Caribbean, and the name of the issuing territory. The stamps will be in single colors, dark green, blue and red. (Central Press)

Sputnik II's Actual Weight Hinted as Huge

Russian Satellite May Tip Scales at Several Tons, Belief

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Russia's giant Sputnik II is about to make a flaming exit from outer space. And there's belief that the Soviets scored an even greater scientific feat with their dog-carrying moon than first recognized.

The satellite, experts at the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory here say, is expected to make its final plunge through the earth's atmosphere sometime Saturday afternoon or evening. The end may well be spectacular, with the satellite glowing like a meteor and visible over a wide area.

Launched last Nov. 3 with the shaggy dog Laika aboard, the half-ton weight of the Soviet moon with its canine space pioneer astonished the world. America's three circling satellites are mid-gets by comparison.

Today some scientist at the observatory think the Soviet accomplishment of orbiting a dog with food, water and an air-conditioning system able to keep it alive for a week was actually considerably more impressive than the Western world realizes.

They believe Sputnik II is four or five times heavier than the half-ton announced by the Soviets.

The free world assumes Sputnik II weighs a half ton because Russia announced a few hours after the launching that "the total weight of the instrument is 508.3 kilograms."

Various translations differ but all agree 508.3 kilograms was given after a listing of the instruments and dog. This is about 1,118 pounds, or well over half ton.

Smithsonian scientists believe Russia was referring only to the weight of the instruments, dog and the essentials to keep it alive a week in space, not the overall weight of the satellite-rocket. They believe the rocket motor, empty tanks and frame were possibly 40 feet in length and weighed several tons.

The significance of this is that it indicates Russia must have developed a first stage rocket motor far larger than anything on American drawing boards.

Scientists say it takes roughly 1,000 pounds on the ground to orbit a pay load of one pound. The 1-ton U.S. Vanguard develops 27.5

Lana's Love for Stompanato Said Chilled in Last Months

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Was Lana Turner's love for Johnny Stompanato cooling months before her handsome underworld boy friend was knifed to death in the actress' home?

Her letters to the 32-year-old former bodyguard of ex-gambler Mickey Cohen imply that.

So does an interview with the owner of the hotel in Acapulco, Mexico, where Miss Turner and Stompanato vacationed for two months.

Police say they are satisfied with the story that the husky ex-Marine was stabbed to death last Friday by Miss Turner's daughter Cheryl Crane, 14.

Cheryl told officers she plunged an eight-inch kitchen knife into Stompanato's stomach when he threatened to disfigure or kill her mother.

The latest batch of Miss Turner's letters to Stompanato, published in a copyrighted article in the Herald-Express, contained more torrid expressions of love and affection.

But the letters—written last January from Europe—also contain statements such as:

"You must let me be alone in my 'own world' for a while to rest, think, rest, think . . . I'll know when the time is right, if it ever is to be again."

Stompanato later flew from California and met the actress in Europe, where she had finished making a movie. Then they flew to Acapulco.

This surprised Teddy Stauffer, former husband of actress Hedy Lamarr, who owns the plush Villa Vera in the Mexican resort where Miss Turner and Stompanato moved into separate suites.

Stauffer said Miss Turner had written him in December saying: "It will be very strange to be by myself in Acapulco."

"I got the impression," Stauffer said in Acapulco, "that Lana had discovered that she had made a mistake in meeting the wrong fellow, and got herself into something difficult and possibly dangerous to get out of."

"It seemed like she was scared to go back to California," he added.

While Stompanato was being buried in his hometown of Woodstock, Ill., police here said they were investigating a reported burglary at Stompanato's apartment.

Detective Chief Thad Brown

Father of Cheryl Crane, 14, Says He's Proud of Daughter

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Maybe I shouldn't say it, but I'm proud of my Cherie."

Steve Crane, handsome ex-husband of Lana Turner, made that comment Wednesday night about their daughter Cheryl Crane.

"She only did what I, you or most anyone else would have done," he told this reporter. "She was frozen with fear and she stopped in to protect her mother."

He was referring to last Friday's fatal stabbing of Johnny Stompanato. Cheryl, 14, told police she stabbed the former Mickey Cohen henchman when he threatened to disfigure or kill her mother.

"Cherie loves Lana," said Crane. "I know I would have moved the same way to protect my own mother in a similar situation."

Crane said he hadn't seen Stompanato in person for over a year—about the length of time the underworld figure had romanced Lana. However, Crane said he talked to Stompanato once on the telephone, but denied that he had ever threatened him.

Crane said Stompanato told him that he was in love with Lana and reassured Crane that he had no intention of hurting the child.

Crane, now 43, became Lana's second husband in 1942.

They were married in a Las Vegas, Nev., elopement that paralleled, even to the same judge, Lana's first marriage, to band-leader Artie Shaw.

But the honeymoon was barely over when Carol Kurtz, an Indianapolis socialite, said that she too said a clerk at the apartment house reported a window of Stompanato's apartment had been jimmied early Saturday—a few hours after Stompanato was killed.

Apparently the only thing missing, Brown said, was a shaving kit from the bathroom. He said a maid told him that the kit had contained a packet of letters.

Cohen said he acquired the letters published in the Herald-Express before Stompanato's death.

"But I didn't know what they were," said Cohen. He added he turned the letters over to the newspaper because he was angry with Miss Turner for claiming Stompanato was an "unwelcome guest."

IT'S SO EASY TO PLACE A WANT AD.

was married to Crane.

Crane thought he had received a Mexican divorce, but his explanation did not satisfy an enraged Lana. She had the marriage annulled.

Lana discovered she was pregnant. She called Crane in for a conference.

"Steve was noble and gentlemanly, as always," Lana once recalled. "He insisted that we must remarry for the sake of the child. And he got his previous divorce straightened out."

So Lana, six months with child, was remarried by a Tijuana, Mexico, magistrate.

Crane went into the Army the next day as a private. In 1944, when Cheryl was about 6 months old, Lana divorced Crane.

In 1949 Crane married Martine Carol, the French actress. The wedding took place in the principality of Monaco, on the French Riviera. But that marriage, too, ended in divorce.

Crane has always maintained friendly relations with Lana because of Cheryl.

Zookeeping Now Big Business

By BERNICE GOETZ
Central Press Assn.

BALTIMORE — "Zookeeping is big business today," says Arthur Watson of the Baltimore zoo, in Druid Hill park here.

As director of one of the foremost exhibits in the nation, Watson packs authority on a little-known phase of organization that has the potential support of thousands of upcoming moppets everywhere in the country.

"Behind it," he adds, "lies not only the need for astute horse-trading to obtain collectors' items among zoos but good business administration."

Since Watson worked with a million-dollar budget last year and is now manipulating a half-million more for 1958, he qualifies himself in that bracket.

As handler and keeper, Watson is also the voice and inspiration of the animal antics portrayed on his TV Guide award-winning show, which was the nation's first weekly presentation of its kind.

Many other zoological gardens have followed his lead and are being maintained not only by spice and span economy, but a mounting popular appeal enhanced by television. Marlin Perkins of the Lincoln-zoo in Chicago is another example of nationwide popularity due to his Zoo Parade program.

A FEW YEARS ago Watson was a cost accountant with an industrial firm in Cleveland. He went nightly from his desk to tend a collection of small mammals, snakes and alligators that gradually overflowed from the basement into the kitchen of his home.

Watson acquired a habit of visiting friends with numerous sugar bags tucked under his arm containing harmless corn snakes and bull snakes "just to show how friendly reptiles can be," he says now.

"I think I wanted to prove that it is possible to have snakes in a home and live in it, too!" He admits that sometimes his pets misbehaved and slid under the radio cabinet or davenport, causing a general exodus from the living room.

Unapprised guests, entering the house, were more "moved" by the gyrating sugar bags than the inmates who were resisting their temporary confinements. His hobby became a recognized avocation eventually when travelling sportsmen's shows clamored for his personal collection of reptiles.

FRUSTRATED by his white-collar confinement and the demands of his increasing collection, Watson left industry to take on a job which was to grow into his lifework.

Democrats Chalk Gains During Illinois Primary

CHICAGO — The Democrats made gains in the strongly Republican suburbs of Chicago in Tuesday's Illinois primary.

The Democrats polled 80 per cent of the total vote cast in Chicago, their traditional stronghold. In the suburbs, the Democrats took 44 per cent compared with 24.96 per cent in the 1954 primary. The total vote in Cook County (Chicago) was 678,923, only 27.20 per cent of the registered voters.

Scarlet Fever Closes School Near Ironton

IRONTON — An outbreak of scarlet fever and scarletina has forced the elementary school at Mason, 25 miles northeast of here, to close for the remainder of the week.

Lawrence County Health Commissioner Dr. R. D. Kimbrough ordered the school closed when absenteeism among the school's 157 pupils rose to 40 per cent.

Cleveland Utility Dispute Postponed

COLUMBUS — The Utilities Commission has granted the city of Cleveland additional time to investigate exhibits the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co. wants to substitute for others in its $5½ million rate case.

The company wants to file calculations of the value of its property instead of a detailed pole by pole inventory of its property. This move is being protested vigorously by the city of Cleveland and several other northern Ohio communities.

At a hearing Wednesday, Cleveland law director Ralph Locher asked for additional time. It was granted.

Will was removed after the Ohio Department of Highways said he had disposed of several hundred dollars worth of junk in an irregular manner.

Ike Says People Need To Talk Often

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower believes most of the world's troubles would be over if people met more often because "governments are far more stupid than their people."

Eisenhower made the statement Wednesday in the White House rose garden where he greeted nearly 200 air enthusiasts from both sides of the Iron Curtain.

He was made an honorary member of the International Aeronautical Federation, holding its 51st general conference in the United States.

DeMolay Prepares For Inspection Here

Members of the Washington C. H. Order of DeMolay practiced their degree work for next Saturday night's inspection when they gathered for their regular meeting Tuesday night in the Masonic Temple.

Edward E. Craig, governor of this DeMolay district, will be the inspecting officer on this occasion when the order here induces five new members.

All members of the order here are to be at the Temple at 6:45 p. m. Saturday. The inspection ritual is scheduled to start at 7:30 p. m.

Howard Mann, a member of the DeMolay adult advisory council, emphasized that Saturday night's meeting and inspection is open to all Masons and expressed the hope that many of them "will encourage these young men (members of DeMolay) by attending."

David Morrow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Morrow of Jeffersonville, was presented a past scribe's pin for attending all meetings during the year and keeping his books and records in such "excellent condition".

Refreshments will be served at the Saturday meeting, it was announced.

Daughter's Plea Making Millionaire Out of Dad

Umanoff shows invention to daughters Laurie, Susan, Sandy.

Central Press Assn.
NEW YORK — Parents, listen to your children! They may give you a $10,000,000 idea!

Martin Umanoff of Huntington, Long Island, New York, was not too busy to listen to his daughter's request to teach her how to tell time.

Her desire to learn started him thinking, and the outcome of his few minutes of concentration is a full-time thriving business in the manufacture and promotion of one of the easiest ways yet devised to teach the intricacies of the clock to young children.

The ingenious idea is making Umanoff a millionaire.

TO SATISFY little Laurie Umanoff's urge to tell time, her father took a piece of cardboard, two colored crayons and a thumb-tack, and with them worked a small miracle.

With the red crayon he made the hour numbers and the hour hand; with the blue he put in the minute numbers and the minute hand. He used the thumbtack to pin the thing to a breadboard. Laurie learned to tell time that same evening. It was so easy her younger sister Candy also learned in record time.

Umanoff's simple invention might have ended up as an attic relic if his daughters hadn't envisioned the possibilities of other children learning to tell time as easily as they had. So they took the home-made clock to school and showed it to their principal.

THE CLOCK was tried out in school with other pupils and it was learned that with it even 5-year-olds could master the "Before and After" problem.

Before long Martin Umanoff was besieged with requests for his Tell Time Clocks from school principals in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania and Connecticut.

Time as a children's character also has caught on favorably. A 64-page book called "The Adventures of Terry Tell Time" has been published by Farrar, Strauss and Cudahy.

The Tell Time Watch Corp., with offices on Fifth Avenue in New York City, admittedly is riding a nation-wide bandwagon.

All in all, he made 2,200 clocks.

The next and only obvious step for the 36-year-old package designer was to get into the business full-scale. In his first year of production, which was 1956, he received bids from more than 30 firms for the right to produce his Tell Time Clock on $10,000,000 worth of merchandise.

UMANOFF created an impish character called Terry Tell Time who appears below the clock on school rooms and reminds children to clean their desks, play study, etc. Amazingly enough, Terry Tell CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Scientists say the Soviet Sputnik II with its dead dog is expected to burst apart when it plunges from outer space Saturday.

The scientists at Smithsonian

Astrophysical Observatory said the burst, if it occurs, will be caused by the air tanks which kept the dog passenger alive for some time after the satellite was launched last Nov. 3.

If the final plunge is at night, they said, the satellite will look like a flaming meteor. In the daytime it might leave a plume of smoke like a high-flying jet.

Dr. John White said that even if only a part of the original air pressure remains in the tanks, it still would be much greater than the surrounding atmosphere when the rocket starts to heat up about 50 miles above the earth.

The Smithsonian said northern United States and parts of Canada might get a last look tonight at the dog-satellite. It listed these visible passages, all Eastern Standard Time: 7:50 p.m., northeast Canada, visible from Maine; 9:17 p.m., near Hudson Bay, visible

King's Aim for Jets: Get Out of Seventh

By CLARENCE YOUNG

CENTRAL PRESS ASSN.
COLUMBUS — Toronto's Maple Leafs once again are the favorites in the International League race, starting April 16, but whether their lofty rating is deserved or dictated merely by force of reputation will not be known until most of the 154-game schedule has run its course.

In recent years, the Maple Leafs, without major league affiliation but with plenty of drama in back of them have dominated the Frank Shaughnessy circuit like the New York Yankees have ruled the big show.

Most of the clubs in the International loop still are looking to their major connections for help and it is obvious that a few of the more fortunate teams, by being practically set early, may be able to "jump the gun" while their rivals continue to await assistance from their big league superiors.

There are three new managers in the league this year — Kirby Farrell at Miami, Clay Bryant at Montreal and Clyde King at Columbus.

Farrell is returning to the minors after a year at the helm of the Cleveland Indians. He has vowed that he will earn another chance under the big tent.

Bryant owns an excellent record as a minor league manager. Of 14 teams piloted by the one-time Chicago Cub pitching great, 11 have finished in the first division.

A former Brooklyn pitcher, King is said to be next in line for the Pittsburgh managerial bin in case Danny Murtaugh stubs his toe.

WHETHER THEIR tag of "favorites" is deserved or not may be unknown at the moment, as stated earlier, but there's no denying that the Maple Leafs are as ready as any club in the league.

The defending champions, managed by Dixie Walker, have obtained Pitcher Pat Scantlebury and Outfielder Angel Scull from Havana, not to mention Third Baseman Milt Smith, with the Omaha American Assn. team last year. Smith, however, is having a difficult time convincing Stan Jok and Loren Babe that he is the man for the torrid corner in the Leafs' lineup.

Buffalo, the surprise of the league last year when the Bisons were in contention all the way and then won the playoffs after finishing second, will face the barrier with its personnel fairly well set. Added have been Southpaw Al Aber who was with Detroit and Kansas City last year; Infielder Ramon Conde, up from Springfield, and Outfielder Alan Scott, homer specialist with Abilene in '57. They'll join such holdover sluggers as First Baseman Luke Easter (now a swelle 218 pounds), Outfielder Joe Caffie and Infielder Lou Ortiz.

BRYANT HOPES his managerial magic will hoist the Royals into the top flight after they were a dismal last in '57. Such additions as Outfielders Sandy Amoros and Bob Lennon should help the ex-Cub accomplish the feat. Amoros is the former Brooklyn star while Lennon batted a husky 3.08 with Seattle last year.

Farrell, in his quest for another trial as a major league pilot, should appreciate the acquisition of Southpaw Pitchers Harry Coe and Bill Slack and Outfielders Bob Usher and Joe Christian by the Miami club. Coe, with Tampa last year, was the most successful hurler in organized baseball with a 26-3 won-lost record.

Scared Deer Quieted for State Tests

COLUMBUS (AP) — How fleet is a scared deer?

Fleet enough for state veterinarians who are studying diseases among wild animals to use tranquilizers to calm them down.

And the tranquilizers worked, reports Dr. James R. Hay, state director of agriculture. "The wild deer in captivity calmed down to the tameness of a domestic animal," he said.

The animal industry laboratory of the Ohio Department of Agriculture was the scene of the temporary taming of a small herd of deer so they could be examined.

The department is engaged in what is believed to be the most extensive and precise wildlife disease survey ever made in the nation.

Department scientists now are studying raccoons and squirrels are caused by the same agents that infect cattle, hogs, sheep, dogs and humans."

The department and the State Division of Wildlife are cooperating on the project.

Buckeyes Resting Weary Muscles

COLUMBUS (AP) — Ohio State University football players rest their weary muscles today. The Buckeyes, with three days of spring practice behind them, have the day off.

Coach Woody Hayes continued shuffling his backfield candidates Wednesday, seeking to get greater depth to his returning combination of Frank Kremblas, Don Clark, Dick LeBeau and Bob White.

Involved in the switching was Jim Herbstreit, a 160-pounder from Reading, moved up to the first team left halfback post, replacing John Dresser, who was injured in Tuesday's practice.

Mrs. Campanella had arrived at the Glen Cove Community Hospital for the first of her three daily visits. She's been making those visits for the past 10 weeks, ever since Campanella was injured in an automobile accident. He remains paralyzed from the waist down.

The elevator stopped on the third floor. Mrs. Campanella walked down the length of the corridor and stopped outside Roy's door.

"Roy's making progress," she said. "He shows a little bit of improvement each day. He still can't do anything for himself but he has become able to move his arms a little and he has begun to have feeling in the lower part of his body."

"His temperature became normal for the first time yesterday.

His appetite has improved. He is just now beginning to feel the taste of food. He still can't feed

Campy Still Strapped to Bed But Has Faith in Recovery

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP) — Roy Campanella is still not permitted to have visitors, outside of his family and a few close friends.

Hi. wife Ruth explained: "The doctor thinks it's best, and so do I. Roy would love to see his friends. He is so eager to talk about baseball and the Dodgers. But the doctor feels it might prove harmful. He shouldn't be talking much and you know Roy. He might flare up with all the excitement. And there's always the danger of catching a cold, a virus. . . ."

"Campy is convinced he's going to be able to walk again some day," Scott related. "Throughout our conversation he kept saying I'm going to make it, I'm going to make it . . . the good Lord will see me through. . . . Honest, he speaks with such faith and confidence that you get the feeling he will pull through."

"The doctors still cannot say what the future holds in store for Roy. There are hopeful signs.

Rain date will be May 18.

himself. He doesn't have enough strength in his fingers to hold on to anything."

Inside the room, Campanella, his maimed body strapped to a turning rack in his bed, was lying on his back. He was almost completely immobile.

Ruth Scott, business agent for many of the major league players and a close friend of the Campanella family, accompanied Ruth into the room.

The visit was limited to ten minutes. Scott reported that Campy looked just about the same as he did when the 1957 baseball season ended last September. His arms had thinned somewhat.

"Campy is convinced he's going to be able to walk again some day," Scott related. "Throughout our conversation he kept saying I'm going to make it, I'm going to make it . . . the good Lord will see me through. . . . Honest, he speaks with such faith and confidence that you get the feeling he will pull through."

"The doctors still cannot say what the future holds in store for Roy. There are hopeful signs.

Rain date will be May 18.

"Roy's spirit is wonderful," she asked. "He keeps all of us hopeful."

At the elevator, Ruth shook hands with the visitors and said simply:

"Roy and I thank you for coming."

Thank you, Mrs. Campanella, and good luck, Roy.

Covington Tagged As Key to Braves

NEW YORK (AP) — The player who tipped the scales in Milwaukee's favor last year was a comparative newcomer named Wes Covington. That's the considered opinion of Birdie Tebbetts, Cincinnati Redlegs manager.

"The guy who made the Milwaukee club last year was Covington," Tebbetts said. "He gave them that extra big bat they needed."

Covington played in 96 games in 1957, nearly all of them after his recall from Wichita May 15. He cracked 21 home runs and drove in 65 runs.

Crack of Bones Now Rivaling Boom of Bats

Major League Teams
Chalking Up More
Names on Injury List

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The crack of breaking bones is rivaling the crack of home run bats and arnica is becoming an essential commodity among major league baseball teams heading toward their home bases.

Frank Robinson, hard-hitting young left fielder of the Cincinnati Redlegs, was sent spinning to the dirt Wednesday when he was hit on the head by a pitched ball. He became the third casualty in as many days of a rather disastrous spring baseball period.

Monday, Harry (Suitcase) Simpson, New York Yankee outfielder, suffered a broken right wrist when he was struck by a pitched ball. He will be lost to his team for three to four weeks.

Tuesday, outfielder Wes Covington of the Milwaukee Braves suffered a wrenched left knee when he collided with Los Angeles catcher Rube Walker at home plate. It's hoped he may be ready for Tuesday's opener, but there's no guarantee.

Willie Mays, star center fielder of the New York Giants, got his arm clipped by a pitch which has handicapped his usefulness for a while. Duke Snider, the Los Angeles Dodger slugger, will not start the season because he is still bothered by the left knee which underwent an operation last winter.

Haywood Sullivan, Boston's rookie catcher, suffered a fracture of the right index finger. Then it was found he had a ruptured spinal disc which required surgery. He probably is lost for the year.

Yogi Berra, the New York Yankees catcher, has a split hand. Al Smith, Chicago White Sox outfielder, has an inflamed tendon in his right leg. Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox, the American League's leading hitter, is hobbling around on a bad left ankle.

Williams made his first appearance in a spring game Wednesday, but it proved nothing. He went to the plate twice and twice walked as the Red Sox beat Memphis of the Southern Assn. 10-1.

Robinson's injury occurred at Portsmouth, Ohio, where the Redlegs got little comfort from breaking a three-game losing streak with a 2-0 triumph over the Washington Senators.

He was hit on the face by a pitch thrown by Camillo Pascual. A doctor said he suffered concussion but probably no fracture. He may be out only a few days.

Herb Score, the Cleveland Indians southpaw who almost lost an eye when he was cracked by a line drive last May, was charged with a 6-3 loss to the San Francisco Giants at Harlingen, Tex.

The Braves whipped their old rivals, the Dodgers, again 5-4. The winning pitcher at Dallas was the World Series hero, Lew Burdette.

The Philadelphia Phillies bashed the New York Yankees again; Sal Maglie 12-3 at Winston-Salem, N.C. The Chicago White Sox crushed St. Louis at Denver 10-6, getting seven runs in the fourth inning. The Kansas City Athletics topped Little Rock 8-3.

In a night game across the border, the Pittsburgh Pirates' whipper-snapper at Mexico City 23-1.

Updegraff, Robbins Favored in Tourney

DELRAY BEACH, Fla. — Defense champion Edgar Updegraff and national amateur champion Hillman Robbins loomed as co-favorites in the 56th Western Amateur golf tournament starting today at the Country Club of Florida with more than 100 entrants.

Martin Stanovich of Miami Beach rated as a substantial dark horse on his showing in practice rounds. He turned in 70s for two trial rounds over the long par 72 layout, and appears to have the stamina to withstand the week-long test combining medal and match play.

The first two days are devoted to 18-hole qualifying rounds.

Jeff Reserves Down Kingman Varsity Team

Heart of Ohio Team Readyng

First Practice Set For Amateur Squad

JEFFERSONVILLE — Jeffersonville High School's reserve baseball team, not to be outdone by its varsity counterpart, reached out over its head Wednesday afternoon and clubbed the Kingman varsity, 13-5.

Nearly all the 14 boys who played for Jeff got at least a single, and the O'Cull brothers, Larry and Martin, got a home run and a triple, respectively.

Martin O'Cull shared pitching duties with Ed Juillerat and Corky Witt, all of whom held the opposition in check.

The Jeff varsity played Kingman last fall and defeated them "rather handily," Coach Bob Hildreth noted, saying, "I didn't decide to see what these reserve boys could do with them."

Kingman is near Wilmington in Clinton County. It is somehow larger than Wayne or Madison Mills.

There are 28 boys on the Jeffersonville team now, Hildreth said, so he plans to keep part of them on a "reserve" team through much of the season.

Machen-Folley
Match Ruled
To Be Draw

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Top-ranking heavyweights Eddie Machen and Zora Folley failed by far to determine a clear-cut title challenger Wednesday night in their 12-round draw.

A rematch appears probable. Lanky Bill Swift, Folley's manager, shouted, "That decision was the biggest robbery I've ever seen."

He said a protest will be made to the California Athletic Commission but conceded he thought the decision would stand.

Most of the crowd of 11,759 at the Cow Palace booted lustily at full action on occasion. They seemed to side with Swift and his 190-pound underdog from Chandler, Ariz.

Boos greeted announcement of the card from the one official who voted for Machen.

A ringside check of sports writers indicated a 4-1 ratio for Folley over the 19½-pound Machen, of San Francisco. Machen had won his previous 24 fights.

Under California's 10-most-scoring system, Referee Frankie Carter favored Machen 117-116. Judge Jack Downey scored it 115-115 and Judge Fred Apostoli saw Folley ahead 117-115.

Former heavyweight champion Joe Louis opined: "It was a terrible fight. Machen wasn't sharp and Folley weakened."

Herb Score Tagged Tribe Leadoff Hurler

HARLINGEN, Tex. (UPI) — Manager Bobby Bragan's assignment of pitchers in recent exhibition games indicates that the Cleveland Indians' pitching rotation after the season starts will be Herb Score, Ray Narleski, Don Mossi and Mike Garcia.

Garcia is still bothered by an ailing back, however, and may be replaced by Dick Tomanek or Jim (Mudcat) Grant. Right-hander Bob Lemon, who is on the come back trail after undergoing an elbow operation last November, also may figure in the rotation.

Abraham Lincoln was once offered the governorship of Oregon.

BY JACK AYER

BEAVER WORK

Somebody remind us next December to send an extra special Christmas card to the boys of the Conservation Beavers 4-H club who have undertaken what we think is, from the sportsman's point of view, a very worthwhile piece of work.

These boys, ranging in age from 10 to 15, have offered their services to any farmer in the county who would like to have trees planted for the purpose of preventing erosion. The trees, of course, are available free from the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, and the boys are giving of their time so the farmers can get the service free.

Naturally, we think the project is a smart one from the state's point of view since the whole state has an interest in any one farmer's land over the long pull. We think it is also worthwhile from the sportman's point of view, since the very presence of trees -- even a few of them -- not only beautifies the countryside but improves the hunting.

David Barchet and David Whiteside are advisers to the club. Farmers who want the planting service can get it by calling Kenny Bladet at 9231 or Freddy Allen at 41384. Dick Highfield, the club's news reporter, informed us of the project.

WHILE WE'RE at it, let us note another conservation project which should interest sportsmen as well as farmers. We refer to the State Conservation Reserve program, described to us by Robert Davis, Ohio State University wildlife extensionist.

Davis said that part-time or semi-retired farmers can get a steady income from cropland by putting it in the conservation reserve program, at the same time giving wildlife production a big hand. Many farmers, he noted, don't have the time, the health or the desire to operate land profitably and can do so with just a little planning through this program.

April 15 is deadline date for entering contract with the federal government for participation in the program.

Ex-Athletes Said Healthy, but Prone To Violent Death

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — Former college athletes can expect to live just as long as non-athletes. But they are more likely to die violent deaths.

These were among the findings in an eight-year comparative study of hundreds of former Michigan State University athletes and non-athletes. Heading the researchers was Dr. Henry J. Montoye, of the Department of Health and Physical Education.

Among the findings were:

The violent deaths athletes are more prone to suffer include war deaths, accidents and suicides.

A larger proportion of former athletes smoke than is true of other graduates.

Track men and basketball players gain the most weight after graduation and football players the least.

BLOOMINGBURG — Bloomington's baseball bulldogs parlayed two stolen bases and a wild pitch into the run they needed for a 2-1 victory over Madison South in their baseball opener here Wednesday afternoon.

Lorraine Ayers made the winning connection in the bottom of the seventh, just when the game was headed into the overtime. On base on a walk, Ayers stole second and third, then came home when the catcher bobbed a pitcher's miscue.

Drive Harris scored the Bulldog's other run in the bottom of the second on a two-base sacrifice fly.

Harris got on base on a hit, then stole second before coming in to score.

Two Bloomingburg pitchers — Jim Smith and Buddy Snyder — held the opposition to just three hits and three walks over the seven-inning course.

The lone Madison South run was pushed in by a bases-loaded walk.

Bloomingburg's next game will be next week. A series with Good Hope is planned.

Giardello, Calhoun

Sign for May 5 Bout

SAN FRANCISCO — Top contenders Joe Giardello and Rory Calhoun have been signed for a 10-round middleweight fight in the Cow Palace May 5.

Matchmaker Bennie Ford, who announced the signing Wednesday, said the winner would be in line for a title fight with champ Ray Robinson.

Calhoun, from New York, is ranked No. 7 by the NBA.

Giardello, from Philadelphia, is No. 3 challenger.

Lancaster-Owned Horse Wins $11,076 Purse

NEW YORK — Dixie Miss, owned by Isaac J. Collins of Lancaster, Ohio, and Mrs. Walter Edgar's Milady Dares won the split divisions of the 11th running of the Prioree, a 3-year-old filly stakes at Jamaica, Wednesday.

Dixie Miss earned $11,076 but was clocked in the slow time of 1:13.25.

The monorail — single track train which carries government officials between the Senate Office Building and the Capitol in Washington, D. C., is 760 feet long. It has been operating for nearly half a century.

Defense of their NBA title, fought from nine points behind in the final two and a half minutes, but couldn't overtake the Hawks.

Frank Ramsey, who took over the offensive burden and led the Boston scorers with 30 points, hit on a long set shot to draw the Hawks within a point—101-100—with seconds remaining.

Boston scored only 12 field goals in 51 attempts in the first half, which, coupled with poor foul shooting, proved too much to overcome. The Celtics connected on 32 free throws in the second half.

The Hawks held on to win 101-100.

Cemetery Land Accord Awaits Talks by Counsel

Union Township Sells Bonds for Development Plan

Legal counsel for the City of Washington C. H. and Union Township will meet soon to complete details for the expansion of Washington Cemetery which is operated jointly by the two governmental units.

Arrangements for the conference were made Wednesday night at a joint meeting of cemetery trustees and City Council.

An $8,000 bond issue voted by Union Township residents last November has been sold, and it will be up to City Solicitor William Junk and County Prosecutor Rollo Murchant, who acts as counsel for the township trustees, to work out the township's fair share of the purchase price of a 10-acre tract adjoining the cemetery to the west which has been earmarked for expansion of the burial ground.

City Council purchased the acreage sometime ago from Bud and Mary Brownell for $10,000 with the understanding that the township would pay an equitable share of the cost when funds became available.

The $8,000 bond issue was to raise funds for township participation in a $25,000 cemetery development program. The $25,000 figure includes the cost of the land.

The bonds were sold to J. A. White and Co., Cincinnati, which submitted the best of five bids—par at 2% per cent interest plus a premium of $16. The bonds have been signed and delivered and a check is expected within a few days.

A REPORT on cemetery operations for the first quarter of this year was read at the joint meeting Wednesday night. Signed by Council President Ben Norros, who also is chairman of the cemetery board, and John Spangler, superintendent, it listed $6,832 in receipts for the first three months and expenditures of $5,491.43.

Including a carry-over balance of $3,059.90 on Jan. 1, the present balance is $4,400.47.

Principal items in the quarterly receipts column are $2,083 from interments, $1,915.50 from sale of lots and $1,589.34 in tax money. Receipts also include $500 in cash left by Katherine and Elsie Forman and Mary Fisher for the Forman Trust Fund.

Major items of expenditure were $3,035.90 for salaries and labor, $450 for repurchase of lots and $316.50 for new equipment.

There were 39 interments in Washington Cemetery during the three-month period, and sexton service was provided for two burials in St. Colman's Cemetery and one in Sugar Creek Baptist Cemetery.

Antioch Takes Bids On New Dormitory

YELLOW SPRINGS — Bids are being accepted for a 92-student men's dormitory for which ground will be broken at Antioch College here this summer.

The new brick-and-glass dormitory will consist of two units, each two stories high and joined by terraces on both first and second floors. Each of the four-unit floors will have 12 student rooms, single and double, and a living-and study room with a terrace exposure.

Skidmore, Owings and Merrill of Chicago, who were architects for construction of Corry Hall here two years ago, are supervising this project. The dormitory will be built on a $400,000 loan from the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Bids will be open May 13.

2 Amish Dads Handed Fines

Pair Ruled Guilty In School Dispute

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP)—Two Amish fathers who have defied Ohio's school attendance law were fined $500 each Wednesday for contempt of court. But the legal tug-of-war over sending their sons to school still remained a hot and unresolved issue.

John and Eli Hershberger, cousins, were fined by Juvenile Court Judge Don Young of Norwalk because the sons were not brought to the hearing on child neglect charges as ordered by the court.

The case of a third Amish father, Emmanuel Slabaugh, was continued until next Wednesday.

All the cases stem from one fundamental conflict:

The Amish sect believe schooling beyond the eighth grade tends to loosen ties with religious beliefs. Ohio law, however, requires children to attend school until they are 16. All three boys involved are under 16 and have not attended school for almost a year.

The fines were not paid, pending an appeal which volunteer attorneys for the Amish said they would file. Judge Young permitted the parents to go home and said the fines must be paid only if an appeal of the decision is denied.

The Hershberger fathers and one of the mothers testified they had seen their sons about two weeks ago at the home of Jacob Miller in neighboring Holmes County, but have not seen them in contact with the boys since.

The parents said they had made no effort to locate their sons to bring them into court.

A at a similar hearing last month, Judge Young sent all three couples to jail for contempt of court. The judge held that the parents did not comply with his order that the children be turned over to county authorities.

The Ninth District Court of Appeals, sitting at Akron, ruled the imprisonment improper and freed the parents after they had spent 12 days in the Wayne County Jail.

The search—since Jan. 29—for the three truant boys by Sheriff Glen A. Rike and his deputies has proved fruitless. Rike said he will renew efforts to find the boys, but he explained finding the Jacob Miller farm will be difficult because there are many Amish with that name in the area.

Three Court Defendants Committed to Workhouse

Three men were taken to the Cincinnati Workhouse Thursday by city police.

They are Granville Parsons, who will work off an unpaid $117 driving while-intoxicated fine at $3 per day, Delmar Gilbert, 41, Washington C. H., 60 days for habitual drunkenness; William Ray Wheeler, 41, Buffalo, N. Y., 30 days for shop-lifting.

CENSUS volunteers are to meet at the Central School at 3:30 p. m. April 16 for instructions.

Entertainment for the PTA meeting Wednesday night was provided by Blue Birds, Camp Fire Girls

Central PTA Elects Officers And Endorses School Levy

The Central School Parent Teacher Assn. endorsed the city school 3.6-mill levy proposal and pledged at Wednesday night's meeting to support it for the May 6 election.

Officers for the coming year also were elected at the meeting. Dustin Girton was named president; Mrs. Eugene Heath, vice president; Mrs. Robert Green, secretary and Harold Moats, treasurer.

The endorsement of the levy proposal came following a talk by Elmer Reed, president of the school board, in which he outlined the needs for additional money that would be provided by the levy.

Pointing out that there is competition among schools for teachers, Reed compared teacher salaries here with those in schools of comparable size in this area. Salaries here are among the lowest, he said, and supported the statement with figures.

A portion of the revenue from the levy, he said, would be used to "equalize salaries" here with those of other schools. However, he added, most of the money from the levy would be used to staff the classrooms in the new buildings under construction. "The finest school buildings would be of little value to the pupils without a necessary and competent teaching staff," Reed declared.

ADDITIONAL teaching personnel, he said, would include special instructors in such areas of education as remedial reading. These are "urgently needed," he commented.

The board president said classes in the elementary schools here now range from 24 to 42 pupils. He explained that it is the aim of the board to reduce the size of the classrooms, to 30 pupils, with a maximum of 24 in the first grade rooms.

Reed urged the parents and teachers to attend the school board's meetings. "They are always open to the public," he said and added "that by attending they familiarize themselves with the needs of the schools and get a better understanding of the problems and the board's efforts to solve them."

The board president concluded his talk with an appeal for the people of the community—city and county—to acquaint themselves with the branch college that will be established here if the enrollment warrant.

In a question and answer period that followed this talk, Reed said the board still has under consideration a public kindergarten, but commented that he doubted that it would be possible to have it in operation during the coming school year.

During the routine business session, Mrs. Harry Naylor announced that the Flippo the Clown program will be presented in the high school auditorium at 2 p. m. on April 19.

This entertainment is sponsored by the ways and means committee and tickets will be sold Monday in the schools by PTA members, she said.

Mrs. Ruth Hopkins, principal of the Central School, announced that the city school census will be taken on April 21. She called for volunteers to assist in the project. The census, she said, is a project of the City PTA Council and that the money received for the work will go for a scholarship for a senior who plans to go to college to prepare for a career in teaching.

At a similar hearing last month, Judge Young sent all three couples to jail for contempt of court.

The judge held that the parents did not comply with his order that the children be turned over to county authorities.

The Ninth District Court of Appeals, sitting at Akron, ruled the imprisonment improper and freed the parents after they had spent 12 days in the Wayne County Jail.

Insect Control Farmer's Topic

Spittlebugs, Others To Be Plentiful

Approximately 75 farmers heard Dr. Lyle Goleman, extension entomologist, Ohio State University, in an illustrated talk on the "Control of Insects Most Destructive to Farm Crops" at a meeting sponsored by the Fayette County Agronomy Committee Wednesday evening in the Farm Bureau Auditorium.

Dr. Goleman listed as some of the main insects to watch and control this summer as being the spittlebug, aphids and leaf hoppers on legumes, cut worms, wire worms and web worms on corn. Some reference was made to army worms, chinch bugs and sweet clover weevils.

He described the method of attack and injury that these insects do to crops and then recommended the spray treatment for their control. Copies of a pamphlet, "Insect Pest Control" can be secured at the office of the County Extension Agent W. W. Montgomery.

Chemical control of weeds was also discussed and information on their control can also be secured at the extension office.

Reports were made on the seed sample drill box survey in which farmers are gathering samples of oats which they are sowing at the present time and which will have a purity and germination test run.

Dick Snyder and Willard Perrill will be the two demonstrators to receive free samples of Amino Triazole for Canada thistle control.

Gerald Straley is the demonstrator on five different varieties of oats.

Eight farmers will be demonstrators with the use of Randox in the control of grasses in soybeans and corn.

THE MEETING was presided over by Frank Sollars, chairman of the agronomy committee. Elba Carson, secretary, gave the minutes of the last meeting.
